Summary:

Mike and Will have been together in secret for over 2 years and they have finally decided to tell the party about their relationship, however they want to have some fun with them first.

SURPRISE

Author's Note:

I love comedic over the top coming out fics, there isn't enough for Byler

“So, when are we going to tell them?” Will asks his charming boyfriend.

“As soon as we figure out the best way possible to do so” Mike answers laying a kiss on Wills forehead which caused them to start giggling as usual.

The pair were laying on Mikes bed on a Sunday evening just enjoying each other's company and kissing a lot of course. They had got together over 2 years ago after Mike realised that he was gay and in love with Will not El a few months after Starcourt. The breakup had been amicable due to El realising that she didn't need a relationship yet. The two boys had gotten together the same day, though because this was Hawkins they hadn't told anyone they knew about their relationship, or that they were gay.

They had also chosen to throw the party off the scent by telling them they both had secret girlfriends as a way of explaining the hickeys that were on both their necks. The party had been adamantly trying to convince them to tell them who they were dating since they first noticed the hickeys and 2 years down the line the duo was finally ready to tell them. However, they also decided that they were going to have some fun with them first. After all they knew already their friends weren't homophobic from testing the waters inconspicuously, why not tease them for a bit first.

“Well, I still think that we should go with idea 54” Will says annoyed.

“It's too basic, how about idea 37?” Mike asked patiently.

“That one works better if it were just you coming out and they already knew I was gay,” Will responded.

“Fine” Mike groaned, “we have already discussed ideas 1 to 78 thoroughly, have you any ideas for idea 79?”

“Well, I have actually” Will said slightly apprehensively, “but I don’t know it’s a bit radical.”

“Go on then, I’m sure it’s not that insane, after all nothing dark can come out of your adorable little head” Mike says fondly, ruffling Wills hair.

“We will see about that” Will says smirking mischievously as he whispers the plan in Mikes ear.

“Woah” Mike says wide eyed, “that is so devious, and I love it.”

“So, when do we start?” Will asks grabbing one of Mikes black curls and twirling it through his fingers absentmindedly.

“Right now,” Mike responds grinning, reaching for the phone on his bedside table and starting to dial.

“So today right?” Will whispered in Mikes ear as they approached the parties lunch table.

“Yup today, everything is set up for this evenings weekly Friday game night” Mike responded casually.

“Then let’s get started” Will said grinning.

With that the two smiled at each other before finishing the walk to the Party’s lunch table and sitting down. Their arrival appears to be ignored by the other 4 as they are deep in another argument about favourite star trek characters. The duo just roll their eyes at each other before simultaneously clearing their throats to get their friends attention. They all snapped out of their conversation and turned to them confused before realising where the sound had come from.

“So now we have your attention, we wanted to tell you that our girlfriends will be coming to the party games night tonight.” Mike said casually.

"Finally," Max exclaimed, "all you two have told us about them that you met them at the same time, we know nothing about them."

"Yeah, it has been two years and neither of you have told us anything, why are we suddenly meeting them now?" Dustin complained.

"Well because we are both confident enough in our relationship that we are in love with them and want to spend the rest of our lives with them." Will says shyly.

"Aww" 4 voices ring out.

"That still doesn't explain why we haven't got to meet them in 2 years though" El said after recovering from the last revelation. "You haven't told me your sister or even Mom or Jonathon anything."

"Its complicated" Mike says, "You will get all your questions answered tonight we promise you that."

"We better" Lucas says gruffly, "you two have been keeping secrets for too long."

"Yeah friends don't lie" El pipes up.

"We are sorry about that, but you will understand everything by the end of tonight" Will says meekly.

After some nods of agreement from their friends they restart their previous argument like nothing had happened. Mike and Will exchanged exasperated glances before allowing themselves to be sucked into the argument as well, choosing just to enjoy the rest of the day.

"Ready?" Mike asks.

"Ready" Will responds confidently.

With that done they exchange a chaste kiss before opening Mikes front door where the 4 grinning faces in front of them had been obnoxiously ringing the doorbell for the last minute.

“Finally,” Max exclaims “I thought you two losers would never let us in” she says overdramatically.

“So where are they?” El asks standing on tiptoes to try and look behind the pair in the doorway.

“They will be here soon, lets just go down to the basement” Mike says calmly.

“Fine” Lucas groaned echoing the rest of the party’s impatience.

The 6 friends swiftly made their way down to the basement and sat down before quickly starting to bicker over what game to play first causing Mike and Will to roll their eyes in amusement. However, the argument wouldn’t last long as 5 minutes later the doorbell rings. Their friends look ready to all jump out of their seats and run up the stairs in excitement but they manage to restrain themselves. So only Mike and Will go upstairs to answer the doorbell.

The door swings open and there stood the two pretty blonde girls that the pair had met a couple of months back, these two knew about the boys relationship for a very special reason.

“Beverly, Christine glad you could make it” Mike says welcomingly.

“Of course, we wouldn’t miss this for the world” Beverly giggles, setting them all of into giggles.

“You remember the plan right?” Will questions after the giggles subside.

“Obviously, just wish we got to stay to see the punchline,” Christine responds excitedly.

“Alright then, lets get started then” Mike says and after a few nods of agreement the group head down to the basement. As soon as their friends lay eyes of the girls 4 squeals of excitement ring out, which Lucas and Dustin instantly tried to pretend were more manly noises. The next few minutes were spent fawning over the girls after introductions were done, however neither Mike nor Will would share anything specific about their relationship. They made sure to shut down those lines of questioning whenever they occurred.

By the end of the discussion the party still knew absolutely nothing about the relationships nor had they seen any physical contact beside Mike sitting next to Beverly and Will sitting next to Christine. They had however learnt a lot about the girls interests and hobbies. Eventually the party got bored when it became obvious that the boys were making it difficult so they settled down to play some games instead. They alternated turns on hungry hippos and connect four for a bit before settling into a game of monopoly, a few hours later Dustin was declared the winner. This was then the girls cue to continue the plan.

“Let’s play truth or dare.” Beverly says mischievously.

“Great idea” Dustin exclaims and the rest of the group apart from Will and Mike nod in agreement.

“You lot start without us, I need to talk to Will alone” Mike says casually.

“Don’t be long” El huffs, “we need to embarrass you in front of your girlfriends.” The boys only smile in answer and quickly make their way to Mikes room, the party seemingly not noticing how neither of the boys had ever confirmed Beverly and Christine were their girlfriends.

“So now that those two are gone, can we finally ask you two about your relationship?” Max asks impatiently.

“Of course, you just need to ask us during the game,” Christine responds smiling, Mike and Will having told them beforehand to always answer truth.

“Everyone’s only going to be addressing you two then,” Lucas laughs.

“We expected as much” Beverly giggles.

“Alright then” Max says confidently, “Christine truth or dare?”

“Truth.”

“How did you and Beverly meet Mike and Will” Max says instantly.

“At a youth group” she answers shortly, leaving out what kind of youth group intentionally.

“Didn’t know they went to a youth group” Dustin says surprised looking around at the rest of the group shaking their heads.

“Lucas truth or dare” Christine says interrupting the surprise.

“Umm dare” Lucas says not very confidently.

“Kiss Dustin on the cheek” she says smugly, Mike and Will had given them a list of truths and dares to use making a prediction how many it would take before their friends figured it out.

“What?” Lucas and Dustin both yelled blushing whilst the 4 girls burst into laughter.

“You can’t be serious” Lucas groaned, “my girlfriends sitting right there,” He says looking at Max.

“Come on just do it wimp, it’s just a dare, you can come kiss me afterwards if you need to,” Max says grinning.

Lucas mumbled something over his breath before quickly leaning over to Dustin on his right and giving him a peck on the cheek. The girls cheered whilst the 2 boys visibly shivered, Lucas quickly goes to kiss Max straight after.

After regaining his composure Lucas says, “alright my turn, Beverly truth or dare?”

“Truth” she replies primly still following her instructions.

“Have you and Mike had sex?” Lucas asks.

“Gross question but no” she replies honestly.

“My turn” Beverly says excitedly as the 4 party members recover from the bluntness of the question and the surprise considering they all thought Mike was having sex based off the hickeys.

“Max, truth or dare?” she asks.

“Dare obviously” she says very confidently.

“Whisper your secret tactics for winning Dig Dug in my ear” Beverly says giggling.

“Fine” Max says scowling, she obviously didn’t want to give up trade secrets but she would never decline a dare. A few whispers later and Max was back in her seat still scowling whilst Beverly carried on giggling.

“Anyways my turn” Max says her face brightening, “Christine truth or dare?”

“Truth” Christine responds in an almost disinterested tone.

This time Max considers her question for a bit before answering, she could have asked the same question Beverly was asked but if Mike hasn’t had sex surely Will wouldn’t have either? So instead, she goes with, “When did you and Will have your first kiss?” she asks smiling.

“We haven’t kissed” She says nonchalantly.

“WHAT??” 4 voices yell out instantly.

“You’ve been together over 2 years and you haven’t kissed?” Dustin says holding his head in your hands. “Why not?”

“Why wasn’t in the question, my turn”, she says ignoring the party’s protests, “El truth or dare?” she says turning to El at lightning speed.

“Um truth” she says innocently still shocked from the previous revelation.

“If you could have superpowers what would they be?” she asks, it was a strange choice, the boys hadn’t told them the significance of the question but were very insistent they asked it.

El looked slightly shell-shocked for a second, as did the rest of the party, they had only just recovered from the last answer. “Um telekinesis” she says trying to sound as calm as possible, Christine just nods in response, assuming that it must be some kind of inside joke to warrant this reaction.

After she regained her composure again she then turned to Beverly, "truth or dare?" she asks not bothering with names.

"Truth" Beverly responds without hesitation already knowing what the question would be.

"When did you and Mike have your first kiss?" El asks in a quiet voice.

"We haven't kissed" She said using the exact same nonchalant tone as Christine.

"WHAT??" four voices yell, using the exact same shocked tone as earlier.

"Neither one of you have kissed your boyfriends?" Lucas says looking at one then the other in shock, "How does either of them know that they are in love then?"

Both girls just shrug and Beverly says, "again not the question, my turn."

"Dustin, truth or dare?" she says seriously.

"Truth" he responds still seemingly in a daze from another strange revelation.

"Do you have a crush on El?" she says reciting out from memory Dustin's question.

"WHAT??" four voices yell again, seemingly surprised by everything Christine and Beverly say.

"Oh, come on we've been here a couple of hours and we've both noticed Dustin's heart eyes", Beverly says turning to Christine who nods in agreement, "just admit it Dusty bun."

Dustin just keeps hyperventilating, too in shock to notice the use of a nickname that only the party knew. Eventually he calms down enough to respond and by the looks of realisation on El, Max and Lucas's faces he knows there's no use denying it. "Fine, yes I do", he says blushing.

“Well, um okay we can talk about that one later, for now let’s just continue with the game.” Max says as judging by Els expression she doesn’t want to talk about that with all of them there.

“Okay”, Dustin replies glad to be moving to a different topic, “Christine truth or dare?”

“Truth” she replies as expected.

This time, Dustin really thinks about his question, seemingly realising that something odd is going on but unwilling to look like a fool if he’s wrong so he goes with something middle ground, “How long has Will been your boyfriend?” he asks, knowing that there should be only 2 possible responses.

“He isn’t” Christine responds casually seemingly oblivious to the gravity of the statement.

This time the party doesn’t yell out “WHAT??” in unison they just sit there staring at the 2 girls trying to comprehend what they had just learned. No one bothered asking whether Beverly was Mikes girlfriend the answer was obvious now.

Eventually Max says angrily, “What the hell are you two doing here if you aren’t their girlfriends?”

“Mike and Will called us and asked us to be a distraction” Christine says casually as if it wasn’t a shocking thing to say.

“What do you mean a distraction?” Lucas questions irritably.

“What do you think they are doing upstairs” she replies smugly.

“Holy shit, those shitheads are kissing their actual girlfriends upstairs aren’t they.” Dustin asks rhetorically, jumping to his feet as he spoke, the other 3 copying his movements. “Come on we need to see this” he yells running to the stairs the others following him as quickly as possible, shoving each other a lot as they did so. The two girls just watched them go both sharing looks of amusement knowing exactly what was coming.

As soon as the others disappeared the girls turned to each other and started giggling, "It's a shame we don't get to see the fireworks" Beverly said through giggles.

"True but there's something else I would rather be doing", Christine said before leaning over and giving her girlfriend a chaste kiss. "Let's get out of here and do something more interesting", she said, the two girls shared a smile briefly before making their way to the basement door.

Meanwhile 4 teenagers were charging up the stairs of the Wheeler house towards Mikes room, all equally thankful that the rest of the family was out tonight. They all went straight into Mikes room not bothering to knock, and as they all entered the room they all started yelling out questions at once when they finished observing the scene in front of them. All they could see was Mike making out with someone on his bed, the other person concealed by the bedframe.

"What the Hell Mike?" Dustin roars.

"Who the fuck is that?" Max yells.

"Why did you lie to us man?" Lucas says.

"Where's Will?" questions El.

Mike and whoever is underneath him seem to ignore the party's appearance and just keep making out frustrating the party so eventually Max says, "I'm going to start beating you up like the flat tire you are Wheeler unless you explain that the fuck is going on."

This seems to get their attention as Mike gets off the other person and turns to the party displaying a hearty grin, but before the party have time to glare at Mike they catch sight of the other person as they sit up and all their frustrated faces change to ones of shock. The person is unfazed however and they say, "oh hey guys, took you long enough" in his usual jovial tone.

The party have no words as they just stare at Mike and the newly revealed Will. The pair look back faces seemingly unwavering as if not surprised by the events unfolding. A couple of seconds in the faces of the pair on the bed crack and they both burst into laughter at the looks on their friends' paled faces. After recovering from their laughter, they turn to look at their shocked friends with looks of curiosity and amusement.

"Wow they are really shocked aren't they", Mike says observing their friends, "perhaps we should have just gone with plan 2 after all."

"No, we shouldn't have" Will retorts shaking his head, "why was having them walk in on us having sex your second idea after just telling them?"

"It's obviously because I want to show off my gorgeous boyfriend" Mike replies giving Will a quick kiss on the lips."

"I can be shown off with my clothes on thank you very much" Will replies giving his boyfriend a playful smack on the head.

The pair just giggle for a bit and stare lovingly into each other's eyes before turning to their friends again who are still frozen with shock. The two share looks of frustration before Mike says irritably, "Look if you lot don't say something soon we will actually have sex in front of you."

"NO" all four yell simultaneously the threat rousing them from their shocked stupor.

"Well, aren't you going to ask us something?" Will prompts patiently after a few seconds when it becomes obvious that they still weren't going to say anything.

"So, you two are um queer then?" Lucas asks hesitantly.

"The preferred term is gay but yes," Mike replies.

"And how long has this been going on?" Max asks with none of her usual confidence.

"Since the day Mike broke up with El" Will says looking sympathetically over at his sister.

"Yeah, I didn't say at the time but that's the real reason we broke up, sorry El", Mike says scratching the back of his neck nervously.

"Its fine Mike don't worry about it" El responds with a smile.

"Who else knows?" Dustin asks his face now returned to its normal colouring from the pale shade it was earlier.

"We told Wills parents as well as Jonathon and Nancy over the course of the week as we were preparing for the plan, we also told the rest of the youth club we joined a few months ago." Mike replies.

"Why would you tell random people from a youth club before your family and friends" El asks her face turning into a grumpy expression.

"It's a gay youth club" Will says with a laugh, "Its somewhat a requirement to be a non-straight sexuality."

"Wait so that means that Beverly and Christine are..." Lucas starts, figuring it out first.

"Lesbians" Will finished with a smile, "and are girlfriends, I trust they played their part well?"

"Absolutely, we had no idea what was going on" Max responds truthfully.

"Did they ask you each your personalised truth or dare?" Mike asks chuckling.

"Wait you planned that too?" Dustin exclaimed.

"Yup I trust they went as planned? Max revealed her Dig Dug secrets Dustin admitted his feelings for El, Lucas kissed a boy and El got surprised by a superpower question." Will asked chuckling along with his boyfriend.

"Yes, I trust you didn't actually tell them about my powers did you?" El questioned with a glare.

"Of course not" Mike scoffed, "just needed to have some fun with you all first before the reveal."

"And now everything has been revealed I take it that you all accept us?" Will asks meekly looking slightly scared.

“Of course we do man” Lucas says, “just keep the kissing down to a minimum we all know how enthusiastic Mike is and that was with a girl” he says chuckling, and everyone apart from Mike joins in.

“Hey, I can kiss my boyfriend if I want to” Mike huffs indignantly, “anyways this calls for a group hug, bring it in.”

The party all practically jump on Mikes bed as they crowd around Will and Mike excitedly, both boys comforted by the fact their friends accepted them, not that they doubted they wouldn't. Though both boys were squished in by their friends they still managed to turn to each other and exchange a look which both of them could translate as they were thinking the same thing.

Mission Successful.

Author's Note:

If you dont mind smut and like this would suggest reading my other fic senior year scheming as there is a coming out scene similar to this one in that :-)

Kudos and comments appreciated :-)
